

We're Closed

Without net neutrality, music just wouldn't sound the same. We don't want a few powerful gatekeepers controlling our access to culture and stifling creativity. So today, as New York City welcomes musicians from all over the world to celebrate the year in music, we'll be closing the doors of our New York store in support of an open internet.

Do you love music?
Join us in defending net neutrality:
battleforthenet.com

SONOS
The Home Sound System