

April 30, 2020

As petroleum demand drops, U.S. crude oil storage fills up

As demand for fuel has plummeted because of the Covid-19 pandemic, crude oil inventories have risen sharply.

Petroleum product consumption

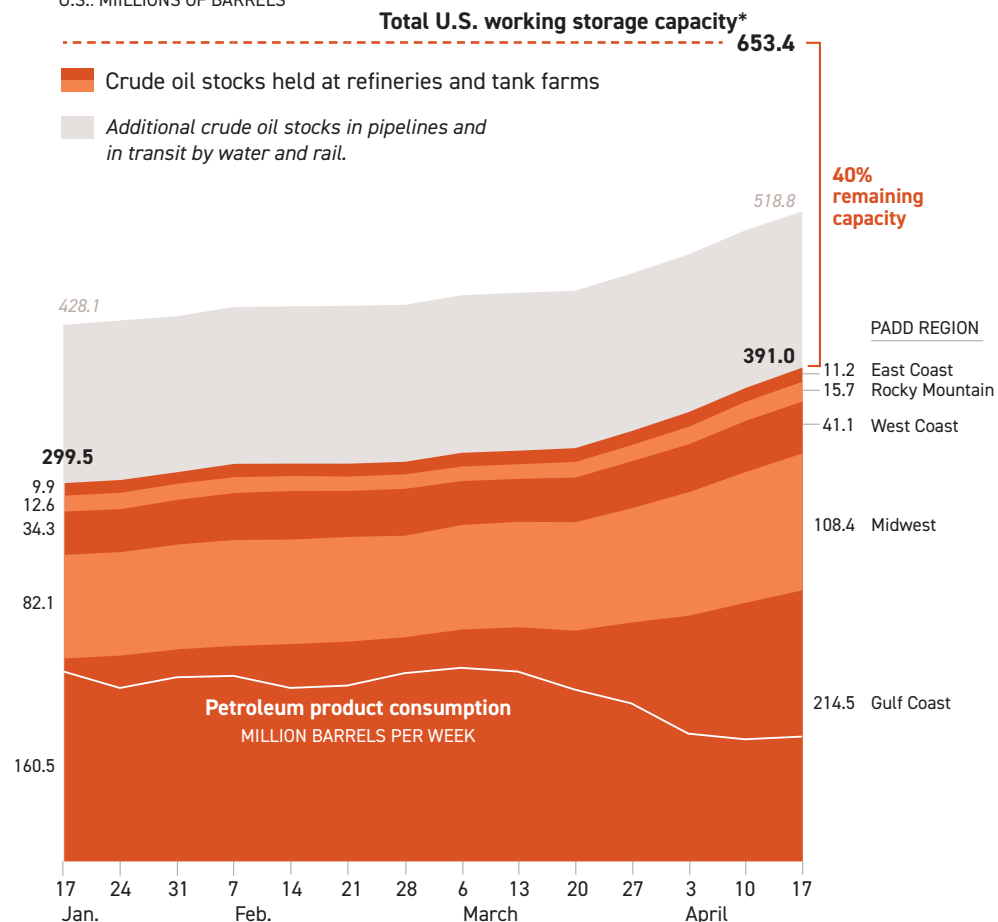

U.S.: MILLIONS OF BARRELS OF REFINED PRODUCTS SUPPLIED PER DAY

Source: Energy Information Administration
By Patterson Clark, POLITICO Pro DataPoint

Crude oil held in tanks, transit and pipelines

U.S.: MILLIONS OF BARRELS

*The difference in volume between the maximum safe fill capacity and the quantity below which pump suction is ineffective. Does not include U.S. Strategic Petroleum Reserve.