

May 12, 2020

Trump administration looks to buoy flagging uranium mining

Low-priced imported uranium has nearly snuffed out U.S. uranium production. Although President Donald Trump has resisted imposing tariffs on uranium imports from Russia, Australia, Canada and Kazakhstan, the administration is considering several measures to support the industry:

- Establish a domestic uranium reserve.
- Support exports of uranium and nuclear technology.
- Authorize Nuclear Regulatory Commission to block imports from China and Russia.

U.S. uranium concentrate domestic production

POUNDS PRODUCED

Sources: Energy Information Administration, POLITICO Pro staff reports

By Patterson Clark, POLITICO Pro DataPoint

